Candidates requiring accommodation are encouraged to make their needs known to the recruiter and/or accessibility coordinator, so that the appropriate accommodations may be provided in consultation with the applicant.

Candidates that have been offered a position with Virox will be notified of Virox's policies for accommodating employees with disabilities at time of hire.

INDIVIDUAL ACCOMMODATION PLANS & REQUESTING ACCOMMODATIONS ON THE BASIS OF HUMAN RIGHTS

Virox will maintain a written process for the development of documented individual accommodation plans for employees with disabilities and/or those that require accommodation related to other Human Rights Code Related Grounds. If requested, information regarding accessible formats, communication supports, and individualized workplace emergency response information (where required), and/or other accommodations provided will be included in the individual accommodation plan.

It is to be understood that the onus for initiating accommodation requests is with the employee who requires the accommodation.

Individuals who require accommodation for a disability or other ground protected by the Ontario Human Rights Code must complete and submit a Request for Accommodation form to the Human Resources department. The Request for Accommodation form may be obtained from the Human Resources department. In order to ensure the appropriate accommodations are provided, medical information or other supporting documentation regarding the individual's accommodation requirements, efforts to self-accommodate (where appropriate), and the length of time the accommodation is needed for, may be required and will be kept confidential.

It is the employee's responsibility to cooperate with the Company during the accommodation process and to ensure that the company has the appropriate information to accommodate their needs. Employees requesting accommodation are also expected to be reasonable in responding to the proposals put forward by the Company and to provide updates on any changes in their situation or accommodation requirements as needed and/or requested.

If an employee is absent from work due to disability for an extended period and requires accommodation in order to return to work, Virox will develop an individual accommodation plan for that individual, in consultation with disability benefits providers, where suitable and necessary.

All individual accommodation plans will be reviewed on an annual basis, at the latest. Depending on the individual's circumstances and the required accommodations, more frequent review may be required. The Company reserves the right to seek advice of a specialist, with the employee's consent, where the request for accommodation involves issues outside the expertise of the Company.

DENIED REQUESTS AND APPEAL PROCESS

The Company will make every reasonable effort possible to accommodate disability-related requests for accommodations up to the point of undue hardship.

Requests for accommodation may also be denied if the employee requesting accommodation refuses or fails to provide the necessary information required to develop the accommodation plan.

Should an accommodation request be denied or an alternative offered by the Company be refused, the employee requesting the accommodation will be informed of the reasons for the decision and their right to request a review of the decision. The employee may submit a written request for reconsideration to the Human Resources department.

PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT

Individual accommodation plans and/or the accessibility needs of an employee will be reviewed and considered prior to and when managing employee performance to ensure all relevant accommodations are implemented in the session and considered in the assessment and discussion.

PROFESSIONAL, CAREER DEVELOPMENT, ADVANCEMENT, AND REDEPLOYMENT

Individual accommodation plans or accessibility needs shall be reviewed and considered to ensure that individuals with disabilities have access to training, professional and career development and advancement within the company that meets their unique needs and requirements.

In the event that Virox chooses to use redeployment as an alternative to layoffs when a particular job or department has been eliminated, Virox will take into account the accessibility needs and skills of its employees with disabilities to determine if alternative work within the organization is available and can be offered.

RETURN TO WORK PROCESS

Virox is committed to supporting our employees in their early and safe return to work following work-related and non-work-related medical and/or disability related leaves of absence.

In recognition that productive work can be an important aspect of the recovery process, Virox will endeavor to return employees to suitable and productive work as early as possible following an injury or illness, provided that this can be done safely and without compromising the health of the employee and/or the safety of others.

A graduated return to work may be attempted if approved by the employee's physician, even if the types of duties or the number of hours the employee can work is initially very limited, as this may have a positive impact on the employee's recovery. If the employee's physician approves a graduated return to work, it is expected that the employee will cooperate with the plan.

EMPLOYEE RESPONSIBILITIES

To ensure a successful early and safe return to work, employees are responsible for:

- Reporting any injury immediately to their immediate manager, HR, joint health and safety committee member, and leadership team representative.
- Maintaining contact with the organization while away from work, regardless of the length of the absence.
- Providing regular updates to the Human Resources Department on any changes in health condition and medical status, in terms of expected return to work date and/or how long the doctor believes any medical restrictions may last. - Cooperating with any workers' compensation requirements or the company's disability benefits provider; and,
- Reporting any difficulties experienced in the Return to Work process to the Human Resources Department;
- Providing feedback upon completing the return to work plan.

Employees should be aware that the Company may ask for documentation and information to be provided, even though medical documentation may have already been provided to a third party, ex: for workers' compensation benefits or disability benefits. The reason for this is that different organizations may need the information for different purposes, such as assessing entitlement to benefits etc. However, the Company requires specific information to determine how best to assist in returning employees to work safely.

Employees that fail to cooperate and/or provide documentation requested by the Company may be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment for cause due to failure to comply with the requirements of this policy.

- Informing employees of the Company's policies and procedures;
- Informing employees of their legal rights and responsibilities concerning safe work, accommodation and the Return to Work program;
- Maintaining contact with the employee during their absence;
- Meeting with the employee to discuss Return to Work options, including a graduated return to work or modified duties if necessary;

- Requesting medical information and documentation from the employee where necessary to develop an accommodation, modified duties or a graduated return-to-work plan;
- Identifying and offering modified duty assignments;
- Identifying and discussing possible accommodation solutions.

EMERGENCY RESPONSE PROCEDURES

In the event that Virox makes emergency procedures, plans and public safety information available to the public, it will be provided, upon request, in an accessible format or with appropriate communication supports.

Virox provides employees with disabilities individualized workplace emergency response information when the employee's disability is such that the individualized information is necessary and that Virox is aware of the need for accommodation due to the employee's disability.

If an employee who receives individualized workplace emergency response information requires assistance, Virox shall, with the employee's consent:

- Provide the workplace emergency response information to the person designated to provide assistance.
- Provide the information required under this section as soon as practicable after becoming aware of the need for accommodation due to the individual's disability.
- Review the individualized workplace emergency response information, when the employee moves to a different location in the organization; when the employee's overall accommodations needs or plans are reviewed; and when Virox reviews its general emergency response policies.

REPORTING

In accordance with the requirements of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005, Virox will report accessibility achievements every 3 years, beginning in 2014.
